Staunton's Southpaw Twirler Batting Rally in Last Innings Proved To Be a Wizard.

WAS A PITCHERS' BATTLE CHICAGO WALLOPS DETROIT

Leake Did Good Work, But Fate or the Stars Were Against Him-The Score.

Staunton took the game from the Brownles yesterday afternoon by the score of 2 to 1. Felser, the southpaw for the visitors, was the enigma. Give that boy time enough to wind himself up, and there are few batters in the league who can connect with his delivery. Stop him in the winding process, and there may be anything shot over the plate. But that was only a side play gotten off by the for Feiser can throw the sphere e rubber with as many twist; and over the rubber with as many twist and kinks and curves and other fumps as any box artist seen here this season. He was connected with only four time systerday, and Jack Anthony get two of the four. But one of Jack's hits was a kind of scratch affair; still it counts just the same.

Rollins Deal.

Rollins Deal.

Leake, Manchester's good twirler, was in the box for the Bdownies, and he held the visitors to one hit. But 'twas Rollins, the midget catcher for the Staunton aggregation, that won the game against the champlons. The small boy waddled up to the plate and swung two hundred and forty-seven pounds of evolvdupols at the first ball that came over. The horse-hide landed out in the field. Rollins is too small to run, and he never gets further than first, when some one takes his place. By proxy he made a run in the fourth inning, after swinging naginat a hall that went out into Jack Anthony's territory, and which was not fielded as well as Jack does when in good style. But Patrick Collins—he's from Ireland—is there with the goods every time the hitting is needed, and he knows the game from start to finish. When Jake Wells made his debut before a Richmond audience as first baseman on the Richmond team. Patrick was behind the bat. And there was Tannehill and others who are now making reputations and other things in big company. But Patrick was destined to shrink un. Slowly, day by day, week ow making reputations and other things big company. But Patrick was destined a shrink up. Slowly, day by day, week y week, month by month and year by gear, he shrunk, until there was nothing eft but a shadow of his former self. And his little speck couldn't trot the pace, and came down here to again waich ichmond and laugh at Crutchfield's okes. That's why the backstop for the taunton bunch is such a good fellow and knows the game so well.

Plus in the Fourth.

Runs in the Fourth.

Rainton bunch is such a good tenow and knows the game so well.

Runs in the Fourth.

Richmond was first at bat, and waited until the fourth inning before starting to get some runs. McEvoy in this inning led off with a swat and proceeded at once to plifer the second sack. He went down to third when Jack Anthony lifted one to right, and scored when Rose drove a clean one. Eacho, who followed Jack, lined one down to first, and it was handled. This was the one run gotten, and 'twas all that was coming to the Richmond gathering.

Mad because their opponents had scored, the boys from the place where an asylum stands, trotted from the field and grabbed bats with a terrible grip. Staley bent one down to third, but Mc. was there, and Staley took the cemetery road at first. Fuller got full of balls and walked to first. And then the midget came up. The crowd asked Leake to be good and not biff the small child, and Leake curved one over. Rollins met it fairly, and it went out to the tail uncut. A new runner was gotten at the initial sack, and Rollins did the conching act. Fuller powerfilled the prescription and spiked the rubber. And then Harris got in harness and stancked one, scoring Rollins's proxy. This was all for the day, but there was a sufficiency. The Richmond fellows didn't play like they have played before, although there are few cryors chalked against them. Mr. Cheatharm, an erstwhile ball player, was the boss umps for the day.

In the game to-day—the last of the series between the two teams—Porter will do the work in the box, and there will be some good man from the Richmond League to twirl for the Brownies.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.) NORFOLK, VA., September 6.—At Virginia Beach Monday there was witnessed a daring fest, participated in by six young a daring feat, participated in by six young women, well known to socioty in this city, Washnigton and New York, who contested in a swimming match when the breakers were rolling high and the rain poured in ferrents. The swimmers were the Misses Elizabeth and Mary Townsend, of Norfolk; Mrs. Gouverneur Paulding, of Norfolk and New York; Miss White, of Pertsmouth, and Miss Maury and Miss Cleefe, of Virginia Beach, arranged fon a swimming contest amons the young a swimming contest amons the young owing to the victous condition of the sea, a shorter distance was agreed upon. The boat rocked so badly it was impossible to get the participants in the water at the same time, and they dived over the side one after another. Once in the water the young women started out bravely for shore, but were pitched and tossed until only a bobbling head could be seen now and then from the shore. It was impossible for any of them to be recognized, and Mr. O'Keefe gave an account of the race which resulted in Miss Elizabeth Townsend being declared the winner, with Mrs. Pauling second and Miss Townsend third.

There was a disagreement between the first two over the result, Mrs. Pauling declares she should have received the decision. The participants were exhausted when they reached the end of the course and waded ashore breathless. women how at that resort, onering three prizes.

At the time set for the event the clouds opened up with a driving downpour, the wind blew the waves in angrily and the course was a series of troughs, Nothing daunted the young women ran gaily down the boardwalk and were taken into a lifeboat manned by Merrit and Richard

OLD PEOPLE AND THEIR TROUBLES

Old People have more of the pains, aches and discomforts of life than do the young. This is perfectly natural, because their blood is not so vigorous, nor their powers of resistance so great, and troubles that a younger, healthy constitu-tion could resist often afflict them.

tion could resist often afflict them.

During the civil war I contracted Catarrh and suffered with its effects for many years. I tried various remedies and doctors, but with no good result. One day I found one of your pamphlets and read it carefully. I decided S. B. Swas the medicine I was in need of and I began its use at once. My health was dreadful, and as I was setting along in years, I had most of the pains and all ments incident to that time of its his front taking this great beddy for awmy. Set a storing will man. I am now more than the storing will man. I am now more than the seams I take an occasional both of S. S. S. Nothing causie it as a tonic and blood nurifier, and I recommend it to those needing such a medicine.

Fordyce, Ark. L. S. LOCKRIDGE.

Rheumatic pains, sleepless nights, fickle appetites, etc., are not imaginary with old people, as is sometimes thought. They need a medicine that will supply their blood with its lost vigor and build up and strengthen their constitutions. S. S. S. is the ideal remedy for Old People. It is made entirely from roots, herbs and barks, and does not injure the system in the least as do those medicines containing mineral ingredients. S. S. is gentle in its action, purifying the blood of all poisons and relieving old age of its discomforts by supplying a robust, healthy FURELY VEGETABLE. constitution. It is the greatest of all tonics for increasing the appetite, toning up the stomach, promoting the digestion and building up the entiresystem.
